Product Recall

Recall of minced meat in the framework of retracing products with a potential risk coming from VEVIBA

Following the press release of earlier today, the FASFC can already provide the following additional information. The Agency has taken measures in order to protect the consumers and recalls minced meat that has already been sold to the consumers.

The minced meat in question has been exclusively sold as raw "american fillet" in a point of sale in the indoor market place "FoodMet" at Anderlecht - Amar butcher's shop.

The Food Agency asks consumers, who have bought this meat at the butcher's shop in question, not to eat the meat. Should you already have eaten the meat in question and you get digestive disorders, please consult your doctor.

Consumers can direct their questions to the free-of-charge number 0800/13 550 of the contact point of the Food Agency.
